Small classes (an average of only 18 students), an individual approach and opportunities for practical experience at various companies and institutions really make UNYP special. I spent a six-month internship at the US Embassy, which made my Prague experience all the more interesting.

When choosing a city in which to study abroad, there were many options, but one was a clear cut above the rest – Prague. Not only would I get a chance to immerse myself in one of the richest cultures in Europe, but I would be provided with an opportunity to continue my classes at a top-notch school, the University of New York in Prague. If anyone is considering an exchange program, without question, I recommend making your way to the Czech Republic.
